

The first authentic photograph of an American destroyer sinking a German submarine to reach this country. The U-boat first sank a ship in a convoy but was herself destroyed by a depth bomb. The picture was taken by an officer on a transport. The feat was officially verified by the British Admiralty.

Copyright Underwood & Underwood. Passed by Committee on Public Information.

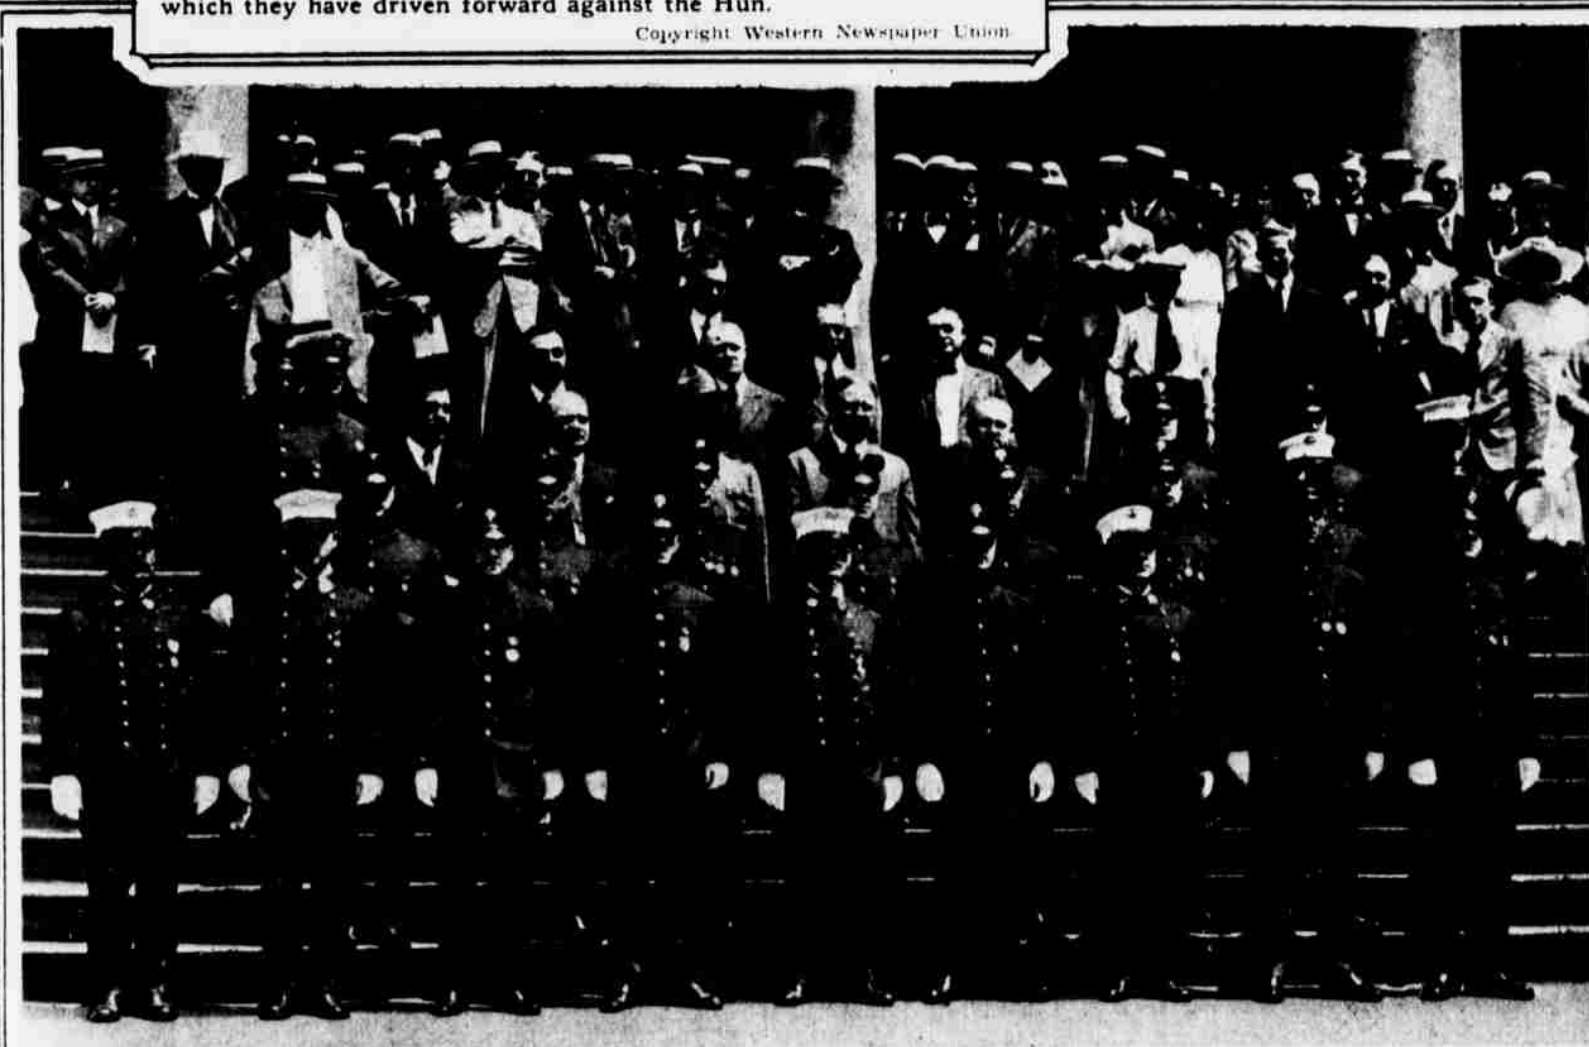

Here is the main street of Ouichy-le-Chateau, the village in the Marne salient recently captured by the French and Americans, from which they have driven forward against the Hun.

Copyright Western Newspaper Union.

The Prince of Wales (arrow) takes part in an important conference at the front, with all the Allies represented.

Copyright Western Newspaper Union.

Fire Department medal winners lined up on the City Hall steps with Mayor Hylan after the presentation of medals last Tuesday. Every man either saved a human life or did something noteworthy to increase the efficiency of the department. Three of the honor men are now in the national service.

Photo by SUN Staff Photographer.

Mayor Hylan pins the medals upon the brave men who risked their lives in the performance of duty during the past year. Several were first year men in the department.